Alcoholics and God

From the Liberty Magazine September 1939

Charles Towns, owner of Towns Hospital where Bill Wilson had sobered up, tried to get publicity for A.A. and finally succeeded. He had known Morris Markey, a well-known feature writer, for years. Markey was intrigued by what Towns told him of A.A., and approached Fulton Oursler, then editor of "Liberty," a popular magazine which had a religious orientation. Oursler saw the possibilities at once and said "Morris, you've got an assignment. Bring that story in here, and we will print it in September."

(Oursler later wrote a number of successful books on religion. He became a good friend of Bill's and served as a trustee of the Alcoholic Foundation.)

In September, when the "Liberty" piece hit the newsstands, Bill thought it was a bit lurid, and that the title, "Alcoholics and God," would scare off some prospects. Perhaps it did, but "Liberty" received 800 urgent pleas for help, which were promptly turned over to Bill Wilson who turned them over to Ruth Hock for a response. "She wrote fine personal letters to every one of them," wrote Bill, "enclosing a leaflet which described the A.A. book. The response was wonderful. Several hundred books sold at once at full retail price of $3.50. Even more importantly, we struck up a correspondence with alcoholics, their friends, and their families all over the country."

When Dr. Bob read the story he was elated. "You never saw such an elated person in your life," said Ernie G. the second (there were two Ernie G's). "We all were," said Ernie's wife, Ruth. Anne Smith said "You know, it looks like we might be getting a little bit respectable."

It was A.A.'s first successful piece of national publicity. The stories in the Cleveland Plain Dealer followed shortly hereafter.

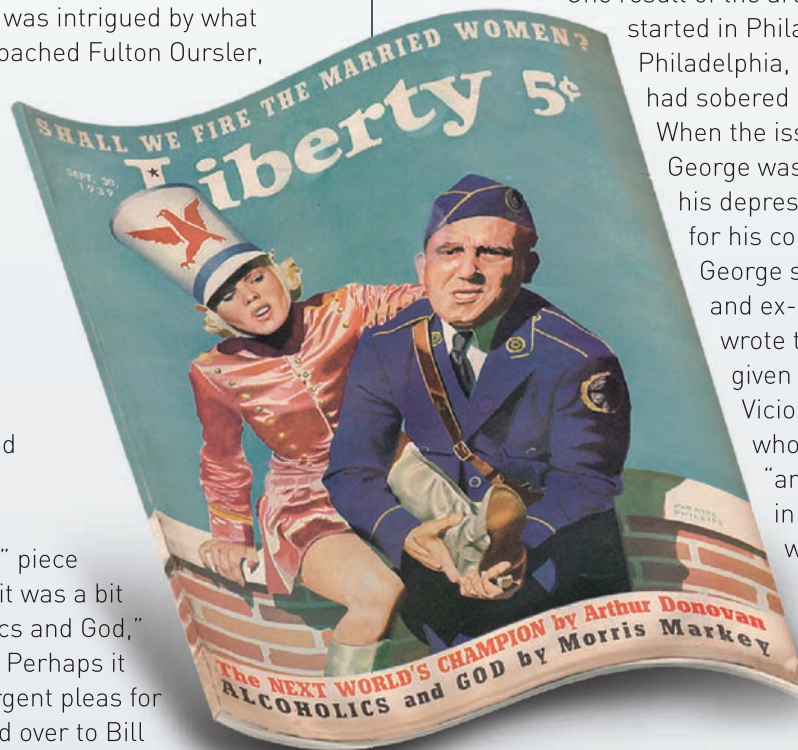

One result of the article was that A.A. was started in Philadelphia. George S. of Philadelphia, one of the first "loners" had sobered up after reading the article. When the issue of Liberty first arrived, George was in bed drinking whiskey for his depression and taking laudanum for his colitis. The Markey piece hit George so hard that he went ex-grog and ex-laudanum instantly. He wrote to New York, his name was given to Jim Burwell (see "The Vicious Cycle" in the Big Book), who was a traveling salesman, "and that's how A.A. started in the City of Brotherly Love," wrote Bill.

Jim and George gathered others to them, and the first A.A. meeting in Philadelphia was held in George's home.

Chicago also reported getting several new prospects as a result of the "Liberty" article.

Bill wrote to Dr. Bob "We are growing at an alarming rate, although I have no further fear of large numbers." A few weeks later he wrote Dr. Bob that "the press of newcomers and inquiries was so great that we have to swing more to the take-it-or-leave-it attitude, which, curiously enough, produces better results than trying to be all things at all times at all places to all men."

Chairman's Corner

Preservation, Restoration and Education

Our mission statement emphasizes preservation, restoration and education. Dr. Bob's Home is proud to announce the beginning of an epic historical exterior restoration. This project will be completed in three phases and priorities. The target completion is expected to be in the latter part of 2016.

This will be called the "Second Century Campaign" since the House turned 100 years old in 2015. Because we are registered as a National Historic Landmark, Dr. Bob's Home has carefully selected a nationally recognized firm to facilitate this endeavor. The firm is AARC (Architectural Restoration and Renovations Consultants Inc.). We have engaged them to help us ensure historical accuracy, while maintaining the authenticity required. In order to do this, we have procured a detailed historic exterior structure report.

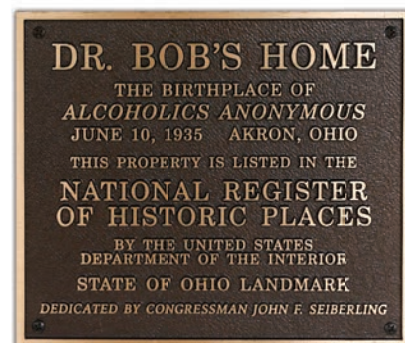

This document includes extensive information on methodology, historical significance and treatment approaches. All of this data was gathered using the latest technological advances.

The details revealed and suggest an approach that is broken down into priority one, priority two and priority three. This report also includes a color study, architectural drawings, prints and laboratory data. The information gathered is priceless as it will be available for perpetuity.

Needless to say, a major undertaking such as this requires substantial resources and the budget for this initiative is extensive. We have secured some modest contributions from individual donors and obtained generous grants from various foundations. However, the aggregate of both is well below what is required. We need your help so we may complete this vital initiative.

Thank you for your past support and your future considerations. We always want to say to all, "Welcome Home" from the House on the Hill. And yes, it is still a House Full of Miracles!

OUR MISSION

Our primary purpose is to maintain, restore and preserve the property at 855 Ardmore Avenue which was the family home of physician Robert Holbrook Smith, affectionately called Dr. Bob, one of the founding fathers of Alcoholics Anonymous. This historic site in Akron, Ohio is the birthplace of this internationally known fellowship, which subsequently became the foundation of numerous 12 step programs that are improving the lives of millions.

Second, our ongoing mission is to help alcoholics by preserving the atmosphere of acceptance where early members achieved and maintained their sobriety. This prevailing attitude is simply expressed in our greeting "Welcome Home."

Third, we educate the local community and beyond on how Dr. Bob's home played a part in the formation of Alcoholics Anonymous and the manner in which alcoholics were helped in the early days.
